If you, as the Author(s) do not own the exclusive right to decide upon the exploitation of the Work, please state the name and address of the entitled third party and briefly explain why and to which extent third parties have rights in the Work (for example, the Author(s) completed the Work under the employment of the third party).

Terms and Conditions

This license agreement (the "Agreement") is entered into between the Kernel Press UG (haftungsbeschränkt) (the "Publisher") and the Author(s) (hereinafter together referred to as the "Parties"). The Publisher intends to publish the Work under the Creative Commons Attribution (CC BY 4.0) license and the Author(s) acknowledges and accepts the conditions of such license, subject to the provisions of this Agreement. Under the CC BY 4.0 license, users are allowed to copy, distribute, reuse and modify their work for any purpose, even commercially, given that the source and original authors are acknowledged. For full details of this license, please see:

<https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/4.0/>

The Work refers to the document(s) sent by the Author(s), which includes but is not limited to, the article text, figures, and tables ("the Paper") and the associated supplementary material, which is made available on-line on the Journal's website.

I. Rights to Use

1. The Author(s) grants to the Publisher a worldwide, non-exclusive, royalty-free, transferable license (including the right to sub-license) to use, copy, reproduce, distribute, prepare derivative works of and display the Work.
2. The Author(s) agrees that the Work, upon acceptance for publication, shall be licensed under the Creative Commons Attribution License 4.0. If another type of Creative Commons License, such as the Creative Commons 1.0 Public Domain Dedication waiver, is required to publish the Work, the Author(s) will notify the Publisher and justify this request at the time of submission. To avoid doubt it is stated that sections I.1. of this license agreement as stated above shall apply and prevail between the Parties irrespective of the type of License under which the paper is published.

II. Warranties and Indemnification

1. The Author(s) certifies that he/she is authorized to enter into this agreement and ensures and warrants that he has all necessary rights to do so, especially to grant a license to the extent stated in section I.
2. The Author(s) warrants, that:
 - (a) the Work is original and has not been previously published (in electronic format or print) in any other peer-reviewed journal, is not under consideration by any other journal and does not infringe any existing copyright or any other third party rights.
 - (b) the Work does not contain anything that is libelous, unlawful, infringes on right of privacy or would constitute a breach of contract or of confidence upon publication.
 - (c) reasonable care has been taken to ensure the integrity of the Work. To the Author's knowledge, all statements in the Work, which are purported to be facts, are true. If followed accurately, any instructions or formulas contained in the Work will not cause any illness, injury or damage to the user.
3. In the event that third parties claim that the Publisher infringes their rights in connection with the Work, the Author(s) shall indemnify and hold harmless the Publisher from such third party claims and reimburse any costs and damages in connection with such claims (e.g. attorneys fees). The Author(s) will support the Publisher in defending against such claims.

III. Fees

The Author(s) agrees to pay the applicable article publication fee, which is set out in the Journal's website (<https://genomicscomputbiol.org/gcb/about>).

IV. Applicable Law

This Agreement is governed by the law of the Federal Republic of Germany.

V. Entering into Force

This agreement will become effective upon signature by the Author or by someone with the authority to sign for the Author. Without such signature the Publisher is under no circumstances legally obliged to publish or accept the manuscript or the Work.
